Our new-look newsletter with all the latest updates from school

28th February 2020

Learning this week

This week we started our new topic 'Why are you so healthy?'. Teachers began the week in an unhealthy manner by consuming fizzy drinks and chocolate whilst not moving from their seats whilst teaching. This hook instantly engaged children into their new half termly focus. As well as this, they also received a letter from the Mayor of Rome explaining why Italy is one of the healthiest countries in the world. Also, children were told that they will be making a healthy eating booklet and making a healthy pizza at the end of the unit.

In maths, children have learnt how to subtract money and give change. In English, we begun our new class text 'The Demon Dentist' and revised the use of a and an. In geography, we used atlases to find the countries in Europe.

FOHJS Competition

'Book in a Jar Competition'

For World Book Day, on the 5th of March, design a jar with your favourite book inside. Entries must be handed in to the classroom by 9am on 5/3/2020.

Lots of prizes to be won!

Creative Writing Club

Mrs Kasia will be running a new creative writing club which starts Tuesday 3rd of March. If you are interested in joining this afterschool club, please inform the office.

Bedtime Book Club

Every Monday, after school, the library will be open for children to select a book with their parents. This is a great opportunity to chose books together, take a look at our richly resourced library and promote a love of reading.
